RNL ADDS NEW STAFF IN PHOENIX

Phoenix, Arizona, October 9, 2007 – Courtney Armstrong joins RNL as interior designer.

Courtney received her bachelor of science in interior design from Arizona State University this past spring. Armstrong is currently working on the Mesa Justice Center project, which is a new 97,000 square foot courthouse project for the city of Mesa. Armstrong is also working on the design for RNL's new Phoenix office, which is targeting LEED Gold certification.

Toni Lombardozi, LEED AP, joins RNL as architectural intern. She received her master of architecture degree from Savannah College of Art and Design in Savannah, GA.

Lombardozi is also working on the Mesa Justice Center project, where she is working on the architectural design. She also brings experience with the design and construction of scale models used in fire training simulations.

RNL is an integrated full service architectural firm with offices in Phoenix, Denver and Los Angeles, serving clients locally, nationally and internationally. RNL provides inspired and innovative design solutions to clients, offering a continuum of design services, including architecture, interior design, landscape architecture, urban design and planning, and engineering.
