RNL Opens McLean, Virginia Satellite Office

February 10, 2011, McLean, VA – RNL, a global, full-service design firm, has expanded its practice by opening a satellite office in McLean, Virginia.

The Virginia office is the 5th location for RNL, a 55-year-old firm providing architecture, interior design, landscape architecture, urban design and master planning services. With 130 employees, RNL is dedicated to sustainability, design excellence and innovation within our communities and around the globe.

According to RNL Chairman and CEO, H. Joshua Gould, AIA, LEED AP, “an office in McLean, Virginia is a natural step for RNL. Located just 20 minutes from Washington, D.C. and home to a number of major U.S. corporations, McLean is a key center of commerce. A Virginia office will facilitate the expansion of our transportation and federal government practices. We are excited to introduce ourselves and share our expertise.”

Ken J. Anderson, AIA, LEED AP, will lead RNL’s efforts in the Washington, D.C. region.

The address of RNL’s new satellite office is 1355 Beverly Road, Suite 105-A, McLean, Virginia 22101. The phone number is (703) 720-0303 and the fax number is (703) 903-9755.

RNL is known for a design process that focuses on design excellence, sustainability and client value. As the designer for the U.S. Department of Energy’s Research Support Facility at the National Renewable Energy Laboratory, RNL is leading the charge toward aesthetically compelling, cost-competitive high-performance buildings.

RNL is a global, full-service design firm specializing in sustainable, integrated design. Founded in 1956, RNL offers a continuum of design services, including architecture, interior design, landscape architecture, urban design and planning. RNL has offices in Phoenix, Denver, Los Angeles and Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates as well as a satellite office in McLean, Virginia.
